BAN EXONERATES BAKER OF TAMPERING CHARGES

International News Service: CHICAGO, July 18.—Following receipt of a letter of explanation from Frank Baker Tuesday, Ban Johnson, president of the American league, exonerated the Yankee third baseman of the charge of having tried to induce Allen Sotheron, St. Louis pitcher, to jump the majors and join a Pennsylvania league. "Baker assures me that instead of trying to induce Sotheron to desert organized baseball, he advised him to remain with the St. Louis club," Johnson said. "His attitude is satisfactory in every way and the incident is closed so far as I am concerned."

Amateur Athletes Prove to Make Best Soldiers

Charles W. Call.

Before Ambassador Gerard could gather his belongings and bid farewell to Berlin and the German "kultur," almost before the ink was dry on President Wilson's proclamation of war, there started in this country a hysterical, ill-advised propaganda that called for the abolishment of intercollegiate sports. The spark was first ignited in the east. It turned into a flame when Yale, Harvard, Cornell and others discontinued athletics; it raged through the west enveloping Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and many other minor schools. The movement was patriotic, but it was ill-conceived; it was a kind of enthusiasm, but it was misdirected; it started with a push, but it was bound to be short-lived.

Notre Dame was one of the first schools in the country to announce that she would continue athletics so long as they were compatible with the wishes of the military authorities of the United States. Though she lost more athletes in proportion to her enrollment than most schools, she continued to carry out her spring schedules. Her track team in particular, after the opening of the officers' reserve training camps, was a most mediocre aggregation, but this did not stop her participation in every scheduled meet.

With the first declaration of war what particular group of athletes rushed to the colors? Was it the amateurs, or the professionals? Statistics show that the former outnumbered their mercenary brethren about 10 to 1. Of all men that enlisted what group have so far made the best soldiers. The athletes, the amateur athletes. If these intercollegiate games have been correctly met what sane answer can there be to the question—why cut off the supply of amateur athletes?

Many to Return.

Before a month had passed colleges that had discontinued athletics realized their error, and many of them announced that they would go on with their sports again in the fall. President Wilson gave his ideas on such a situation in a speech delivered May 22. In part he said: "I would be sincerely sorry to see the men and boys in our colleges and schools give up their athletic sports and I hope most sincerely that the normal course of college sports will be continued as far as possible, not only to afford a diversion to the

Only Two Races Finished at Camp Randall—Cloud-burst Halts Others.

CLEVELAND, O., July 18.—Favorites stepped to the front Tuesday at the grand circuit meet at North Randall, but only two races were finished, a near cloudburst flooding the track and forcing the postponement of the other three events on the card.

Mawitza, with Edman up, won the first division of the 2:19 trot in straight heats and easily outclassed the field. There was nothing to the race except Mawitza so far as first money was concerned but Peter Schuyler and Oscar Watts put up a pretty battle for place and show. The Schuyler horse finally getting second money.

It was different in the second division of the 2:19 trot, however, as Peter Chenault, with Murphy up, was given hot competition by Hollywood King in the second heat and by North Spur in the third. Rain clouds appeared and the thunder rolled when the three year olds were called for the first heat of the Fasig sweepstakes and after Kelly DeForest, the favorite in the betting, had won the first heat, the rain descended in torrents and turned the track into a veritable river. That ended the racing for the day.

The unfinished event on Tuesday's card has been put forward, six races being scheduled for Wednesday. 2:19 class trotting, purse $1,000 (first division): Mawitza (Edman), 1 1 1; Peter Schuyler (Lyman), 2 2 2; Oscar Watts (Hyde), 3 3 3; Baltimore (Tallman), 4 4 4; Brother David (Nolan), 5 5 5; Red Top (White), 6 6 6; Robin Wood (Valentine), 7 7 7; Joffre (Kane), 8 8 8. PITCHER DEMANDS BONUS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 18.—Pitcher Mills, recently purchased from the Birmingham state league club by the Brooklyn Nationals, has demanded a bonus of $500 before reporting, claiming that he is a free agent. As Cincinnati has relinquished its claim on him, his demand is untenable under baseball law, according to Prent's Ethics.

THEATERS

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

"Two Little Imps," the first film starring Jane and Katherine Lee, are today's attractions at the Auditorium. This picture shows the five and seven year old "Baby Grands" at their best, it is said. They have been seen by motion picture followers many times in photoplays, in which others have been starred, notably Annette Kellerman in "A Daughter of the Gods," but here they blossom out as full-fledged stars themselves. They are said to be the same delightful youngsters as of old and in this new picture their film friends should have many a laugh. The "Imps" are left by their mother in care of their Uncle Billy, who falls in love with Betty Murray. The children help the wooing along. Katherine also finds Betty's brother Bob in the gutter, and she makes him promise to do better and return to his father, who had disowned him. Bob goes back, but as one of three crooks, and when he finds he's in his father's room he turns straight and with the aid of Jane and Billy, helps in the capture of his pals. Then Billy proposes to Betty as Jane and Katherine look on and the youngsters also see Bob and his father reconciled. The Pathe weekly, with many interesting scenes of late events, will complete today's bill.

LOUISE GLAUM IN STRONG DRAMA.

Louise Glaum and Charles Gunn, both talented players, are seen at the LaSalle today in "Love or Justice," one of the best constructed screen dramas seen here for some time. The story of a man's rise from the depths of the underworld through the influence and aid of a woman of the lower class is interesting and consistently told. Her sacrifices to assist him are based on the unsolvable "woman of it" and will appeal to all thinking spectators. Miss Glaum as the harassed heroine is natural and emotional when the situations call for strenuous acting. Mr. Gunn is equally pleasing in a role that was difficult to portray. The settings and supporting cast, together with the good story make it an excellent picture. Thursday, Dorothy Phillips in "A Doll's House" will be the feature.

TIGERS AND MACKMEN DIVIDE DOUBLE BILL

DETROIT, July 18.—Detroit and Philadelphia divided a double header Tuesday. The home club won the first game 9 to 2 by hitting J. Bush and Schauer hard, but Philadelphia took the second 3 to 1. Noyes outpitched Ehmske, who was poorly supported. R. Jones' failure to cover second, giving the visitors chances for all their runs. A hard shower halted the second game at the end of the eighth. The score: First game: Philadelphia . . . 100 010 000—2 5 2 Detroit . . . 003 100 23—9 15 1
J. Bush, Schauer and Meyer, Schang, C. Jones and Stange.
Second game: Philadelphia . . . 000 301 000—3 11 1 Detroit . . . 000 000 01—4 0
Noyes and Schang; Ehmske and Stange.
